

RP swine flu cases near 100 mark

By Dana Z. Patahugan

FOR THE FIRST TIME, THE DANGEROUS influenza A(H1N1) virus has hit a public school in the Philippines as the number of confirmed cases in the country passed the 100 mark.

A student at Marikina Elementary School in the barangay center of Jambon in Marikina City has tested positive for the virus. He is now recovering.

'Time to say goodbye'

President should rest, says ally

By Lela B. Salaverria

DISCORDANT VOICES ARE being heard in the administration party.

For the first time, a Palace ally is saying that President Macapagal-Arroyo should say goodbye to public office when her term ends in 2010.

Quezon City Rep. Maria Defensora, who is the newly appointed National Capital Region chair of the merged Lakas-Lupang CMD party yesterday pointed out that people were not calling on Ms. Arroyo to remain in public office.

"She was able to serve the country for six years. There is no public clamor for her to run for office. Maybe she should rest," Defensora said at the large forum in Quezon City.

Ms. Arroyo has been in Malacañan since she took over from deposed President Joseph Estrada in 2001. She ran for a six-year term in 2004 and won.

Asked whether he thought Ms. Arroyo should run for Congress, Defensora said the decision was a personal one and that the chief executive should make it.

Mafia-style murder: Steel drum, cement, steel box

WATERY GRAVE Out of the depths of the sea of Marikina rises the gruesome grave of Ruby Rose Bernardez for the past two years.

By Jocelyn R. Uy and Allison M. Lopez

IT TOOK MORE THAN TWO HOURS for crime laboratory experts from Camp Crame to remove just the first layer of what seemed as Ruby Rose Bernardez's tomb. A well-colored steel barrel filled with concrete and rebar was another welded steel box.

Another couple more boxes or so were spent cutting open the light blue-colored drum, when the remains of the missing Ruby Rose were eventually found, interred in soggy concrete.

"The entire thing, including the concrete, probably weighed about a ton," said an officer from the Philippine National Police Crime Laboratory who requested anonymity for lack of confidence to speak with the media.

Contract signed, sealed: Can Smartmatic deliver?

By Michael Lim-Uson

CAN THE MORNING BEGIDR IN THE contract for the five-year computerized elections in May 2010 deliver on its promises?

During a future of elections, Sen. Francis Rocera yesterday sustained to a hearing on June 23 affidavits of the Commission on Elections (Comelec) and winning bidder Smartmatic-TIM, a Dutch-Philippine consortium.

Rocera, co-chair of the joint congressional oversight committee on poll automation, cited disturbing signs that Comelec and Smartmatic-TIM could be ill prepared to undertake the upcoming bid-awards.

"I think it will push through, but my biggest fear would be a failure of election because of automation, or the inability of Comelec to implement automation properly," he said.

"I'd like especially to know if they are ready to immediately shift to a credible and quick manual count if any of the worst-case scenarios happen. We can't afford to have a failure of election next year," Rocera said.

Independence Day in the eyes of Filipinos

By Maria Lisa H. Quizon

History researcher, National Historical Institute

"FILIPINOS ARE, BY NATURE and tradition, a liberty-loving people," according to Herman Embree de Ocampo.

Proofs are the struggles, sacrifices, sacrifices, and innovations that our forefathers waged from the time the Spaniards landed in our soil till the occupation of the Imperial Japanese. Filipinos had shed their life and blood for our freedom.

If we trace the history of the Philippines, independence had been declared more than once. June 12, of course, is the most popular one. Some historians say the first proclamation took place at the Pandacan area in the Pasig River.

THE UNITED NATIONS CHILDREN'S FUND (UNICEF) has announced that it will honor a Pinay staffer who was slain in a hotel blast in Islamabad, Pakistan, last Tuesday.

At a meeting of the United Nations' Executive Board, Executive Director Anand M. Banerjee said, "Her death was a great loss for the United Nations agency and remembered her as a woman who was loved by her colleagues."

She had been with the United Nations since 1994, and was chief of education in United Nations at the time of her death. She was also a mother of two children and was trying to help her family in that region of Pakistan to get an education.

Unicef also said she had spoken with her mother and father in the Philippines to "express the deep regret of the organization."

Well-liked

"I had to tell all of Unicef's members that this is the first time we've lost our colleague in an incident of this type since the beginning," Banerjee said.

"I want to let her family know that we are also doing with you how much she was loved by her colleagues that we were here and we send our condolences to her family and friends," he said.

The latest proceedings were recorded by United Nations and posted on the United Nations website.

Foreign Affairs Secretary Alberto E. Romulo personally paid her family that her daughter died a hero and that her colleagues were being helped by the UN's representation of her country to the Philippines.

Ernesto So, the father, and two daughters, accompanied by UN officials in the Philippines, called on Romulo at the UN's office in Manila.

"We had family members who were invited and requested the UN's information office not to allow even a photo opportunity of the meeting.

One of 19 casualties

Banerjee expressed his "personal sympathy" as well as the sense of loss of the Philippine government and the Filipino people.

He was one of 19 members of the United Nations' Executive Board. Another UN staff member, Ambassador Veronique, of the office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, was also killed.

A number of Pakistani nationals supporting UN programs were also killed and injured.

In a statement issued in New York, UN Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon said he was "deeply shocked by the killings of UN staffers and civilians."

"The Secretary-General reiterates his strong condemnation of this brutal act of terror against innocent people, many of whom were in Pakistan to carry out humanitarian work," he said in a statement. —Gloria S. Salinas

METRO MANILA AND ILOILO: their weather at home in the past few days as they experience some of great weather because of the rotating southwest monsoon, the Philippine Atmospheric, Geophysical and Astronomical Services Administration (PAGASA) said.

But the situation will be different in Visayas and Mindanao, said Rene Francisco, PAGASA weather forecaster.

A low-pressure area was spotted in the vicinity of Mindanao and embedded along the intertropical convergence zone (ITCZ) affecting the Visayas and Mindanao, bringing rain to the region. "It will be rain in the coastal part of Mindanao," said Francisco.

A low-pressure area in a low or form of tropical depression was being seen and noted. The intertropical convergence zone, on the other hand, is the area near the equator where winds from the northern and southern hemispheres meet, forming a ridge of low pressure area.

Reyes disputes Recto's figures on fuel prices

By Ray R. Reyes

MANILA—Energy Secretary Angelo S. Reyes yesterday disputed claims made by Philippine Shell Petroleum products since expressed by the allies, saying the allegations had no basis.

"When I asked Secretary Recto to explain how he came up with his claims, he couldn't do so. He kept on repeating information, and yet no one understands him. There was no scientific basis. Even his staff couldn't understand him, and that's the problem," Reyes said yesterday.

According to Reyes, authority from the United Nations and Development Authority could even explain how the government body arrived at the figures.

Reyes was earlier reported to have issued a list of calculations by quoting foreign oil data from February 2005 and comparing them with current prices.

"Inaccurate"

The method, however, was called "inaccurate" by some oil companies. Philippine Shell Petroleum Corp. and Petron Corp., noting that in 2005, the 12 percent value-added tax had not yet been imposed on petroleum products.

"To simply interpret local oil prices based on international crude oil prices would be inaccurate in discussing various other important factors that affect pricing," Shell said earlier.

"It's easy to prepare a post-mortem on public consumption, but the fact is it's not very true. I may try to be objective by saying things that are not true, but I will not do that," Reyes said.

The energy chief explained that the government, through the Department of Energy, would also open oil prices to guidelines to protect the public in the event that some oil companies overprice their products.

"This does not threaten, and the reality is we can't control world oil prices. The law says the oil industry is deregulated. Under a deregulated industry, the government can't control prices. If they want to control prices they should let me and mine in a law," Reyes further said.

Jordanian arrested for illegal recruitment

By Kristine L. Alano

MANILA—IMMIGRATION AGENTS HAVE ARRESTED a Jordanian man accused of running an illegal recruitment operation in the Philippines, the Bureau of Immigration (BI) said.

Brian Al-Kawadhi, 28, was nabbed Thursday inside his barbershop in Makati City, the bureau's intelligence and security chief, Alberto Brigancia, said.

The agency said Al-Kawadhi was responsible for the illegal employment of Filipino women in Middle East.

The BI official said they found the passports of three women from Mindanao in the suspect's room.

"He will thus be deported for working here without the required permit and visa and for being an unauthorized alien," Brigancia said.

When asked about the passport, Al-Kawadhi said the travel documents were given to him by a Philippine agency head in Manila for processing. The three women who carried the passport were supposed to leave for Saudi Arabia in coming months, he said.

Aside from the illegal recruitment charges, Al-Kawadhi was also accused of violating the Philippine visa law.

Al-Kawadhi's wife reported his activities in bureau and helped to arrest him.

In her complaint, Al-Kawadhi's wife alleged that her husband abandoned her and their one and a half-year old son the year before without giving any support.

Lawmaker ordered arrested for libel posts bail

By Jose A. Subido
Regular Columnist

DACLAGAN CITY—A REGIONAL Trial Court in Manila has ordered the arrest of House Representative Chong on a libel complaint filed by his political rival, but he immediately posted bail to Manila.

Chong, who is serving his first term in the province's lone congressional district, posted bail on the order of Presiding Judge Antonio Rosales of RTC Branch 52 in Manila on Wednesday afternoon after arriving from Malaysia.

Judge Rosales issued a ₱20,000 bail for each of four counts of libel.

Chong issued the arrest order on June 7, 2008 on a motion-file made by Rosales. Rosales, acting without prejudice on the libel complaint filed by Rosales, charged Chong with "political harassment."

Chong described the charges as "political harassment."

"I will not let it be a mistake. I am a brave man. I will defend my honor and reputation."

Chong said he would defend his honor and reputation, he said on Wednesday night in a phone interview.

Chong filed 13 resolutions, but none of them were taken into account at the dismissal of the case. Chong said he was not a politician, but a businessman, and he was not a politician, but a businessman.

Chong, the identity of the person who filed the complaint, was not disclosed.

Public Service Announcement Liberation from hypertension

Fighting the battle against high-priced hypertension medication

Based on the National Statistics and Health Survey (NSHS) of 2003-2004, 17.7% of the adult population or roughly 7.7 million Filipinos have hypertension or elevated blood pressure. Of this number, the Philippine Heart Association Council of Hypertension reports that only 12% are adequately controlled. This means that around 6.8 million Filipinos are not taking any antihypertensive medication or are taking inadequate doses of drugs to control their blood pressure. They have been labeled as "walking time bombs" because anytime, they can succumb to fatal complications such as heart attack, stroke and kidney failure.

A DIRECT RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN PRICE AND COMPLIANCE

Antihypertensive is the most prescribed drug for hypertension in the country and worldwide. Its safety and efficacy are well established in controlling high blood pressure. In 2000, industry data show that 21 million tablets of the drug were sold. The number of antihypertensive generally in the next five years, but it also skyrocketed when Amvasc and other more affordable brands—sold at 70% or less than the price of the innovator drug—were introduced to the market. These data show a decrease in price can encourage more people to comply with their prescribed medication. This tendency is here in the Philippines.

However, even with these impressive data suggesting more Filipinos enjoying the lower prices of antihypertensives, there are still millions of Filipinos who need to take their antihypertensive drugs.

THE TRUTH ABOUT DISCOUNT CARDS

Some companies have issued discount cards to portray an innocent drop in their sales because of the lower-priced new brands of antihypertensive available in the market. But only a limited number of patients—described by some as just a drop in the bucket—can avail of the discounts. Also included in the card's redemption is the less mandated senior citizen's discount, which means that senior citizens would not be getting extra discount privileges should they use the card. The promotional flyer wrote to be stronger and louder such that many doctors have the impression that indeed, all those who are prescribed the drug, can already enjoy the reduced prices. The tyranny of discount cards holds many patients unable to avail of the discounted prices in hospitals.

This independence day is an opportune occasion to liberate patients from the bondage of promotional schemes such as limited discount cards. Let the marketers of this scheme show their genuine desire to help their countrymen by getting rid of these discount cards, and rolling back their prices permanently for all Filipinos with hypertension in benefit. The discount card scheme only increases the risk that the prices of antihypertensive and other vital drugs can be hiked, after all, if only the company is willing to do it.

We support the call of millions of Filipinos and the efforts of the government to bring down the prices of vital medicines including antihypertensive drugs and antidiabetic drugs. May the Filipinos be finally liberated from the bondage of unaffordable and hypertensive medicines and the domination of marketing plays such as discount cards.

Lakers shrug off Magic-al shooting

Orlando eyes equalizer against Los Angeles

ORLANDO, FLORIDA—THE ORLANDO Magic's record-setting shooting in the third game of the NBA Finals was not a concern, Los Angeles Lakers coach Phil Jackson said.

"The Magic made nearly 60 percent of their shots during a 30-10 victory on Thursday evening the Lakers' lead in the best-of-seven series 2-1."

"Their shooting percentage was a record for the NBA Finals, giving Jackson a little sleep in moments before when he played for the championship with the New York Knicks."

"The team I was on in '72 had the record for the best half in the game at 71 percent, versus the Lakers," he said, speaking on Wednesday. "It was the first game of the series and the only game, by the way, that we were in first series."

Perhaps more concerning for Jackson was that for the majority of Thursday's game, his low guard Kobe Bryant appeared to be struggling with the weight of a grueling schedule.

After scoring 17 points in the first period, Bryant scored just 14 more in a 44-13 shooting in the rest of the match, and had a key turnover with 20 seconds remaining.

Bryant, however, denied he was fatigued, saying he was more concerned with Orlando's shooting.

The Magic, who made just 28.9 percent of their shots in Game One, rely on their outside shooting and were one of the reasons they spent the heavily favored Cleveland Cavaliers in the Eastern Conference finals.

"They're in this position because they shoot the ball well," said Bryant. "It's not something that is just a fluke or one game where they got hot."

"They can get hot and stay hot. When that happens, you're dealing with a monster." King is coach Steve Nash's steady hand, the victory would mean little if they came out hot for the fourth game on Thursday.

"We were happy to win last night, but we're still down 2-1 with three games left. The home court advantage," he said.

"One player overwhelmed another." Reuters

TORONTO—(AP/WIDE) USAIN BOLT had won three Olympic gold medals, smashed world records and drawn comparisons with Jesse Owens and Carl Lewis but he's not the greatest, yet, according to Michael Johnson.

"Every time and there's a new athlete for the time and I've never seen Bolt in that athlete," the four-time Olympic champion Johnson said in a meeting with the Los Angeles Sports Illustrated magazine.

"It happened for me in 1996, it happened with Carl Lewis in 1984 and Jesse Owens in 1936, and now it's happening to Bolt."

Bolt smashed both the 100 and 200 meters world records on the opening Olympic day, posting 9.58 seconds in the 100 and 19.19 seconds in the 200.

The 22-year-old Bolt pipped sprinter Michael Phelps, world tennis number one Rafael Nadal, soccer player Cristiano Ronaldo, Formula One world champion Lewis Hamilton and MotoGP world champion Valentino Rossi for the Laureus award.

Mayol vows spirited fight vs Calderon

FLORNO BORN, MAYOL, PROMISED TO come up with a fight plan against 2008 light flyweight champion from California that will not be "boring" during the final pre-fight conference held yesterday in New York.

Mayol challenges the referee to Calderon for the title in the final support of a card headlined by the Miguel Cotto-Juan Manuel Marquez bout on Saturday (Sunday in Manila).

Mayol assured fans that there will be a real fight against Calderon, who is known for retiring to avoid for a fight against the boxing legend.

"I would like to thank the fans for giving me the opportunity to fight at Madison Square Garden. This is my third time fighting on this card and I'm going to try my best to win this fight. I'm going to give it my all. Calderon is a good boxer but I'm going to give it my all. I will make sure that on Saturday night this fight will not be boring."

Mayol said the match is a good one. Calderon, although undefeated in 22 fights, only has 10 wins in his record. "I'm going to give it my all. I will make sure that on Saturday night this fight will not be boring."

Before the fight, Mayol said:

Couple in 'threesome' sex act charged

By Joanne L. Andrade

INVESTIGATORS OF THE MANILA Police District (MPD) on the other day filed charges with the City Prosecutor's Office against a couple who allegedly engaged in a "threesome" with their partner on June 3.

Chief Insp. Anjo Arellano, MPD Western and Children's Protection Division, said the couple, who are both in their 30s, were charged with violating Republic Act 9262 or the anti-stalking against women and children act of 2004 and the provision against pornography under Republic Act 9298 or the anti-confusing in person act of 2003.

Earlier, the couple's 16-year-old maid filed a complaint with the police, accusing the couple of getting her drunk and then forcing her to have sex with them on June 3.

The alleged fact that the incident occurred the first time that the woman had sexual intercourse with the man was also a factor.

Unspent OFW cash choked Q1 growth

But spending seen to pick up in months ahead

By Michelle R. Barro

CAUTIOUS OF WIDESPREAD JOBS cuts reported abroad, families of Filipino working overseas had raised in spending in the first quarter, choosing to save the remittances they had received.

This was the reason why the Philippine economy grew by a meager 0.4 percent in the first quarter—the slowest in 30 years, the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas said.

But economic managers will believe that consumers will regain their appetite for spending in the three remaining quarters of the year.

Thus, they said, would help boost growth of the economy during the period.

According to Dennis Austin, director of the policy and planning at National Economic and Development Authority, the return of the global financial crisis may have already passed, and this may spur Filipinos households to spend more rather than hold onto their money.

On the other side in Taiwan, where OFWs who had been laid off because of the crisis turned were being called back to work.

So far, 1,506 of the overseas 4,000 OFWs who have lost their jobs in Taiwan have been recalled to work, he reported.

OFWs in Taiwan accounted for 60 percent of Filipinos who lost their jobs abroad, he said.

"Uncertain global economic conditions may have cramped consumer sentiment," BSP Deputy Governor Lina Gozon-Gonzales said. "While OFW remittances have continued to increase, it appears that a large portion of 'banker' national would hoard money, rather than consume."

In the first quarter, personal consumption grew by only 0.8 percent, down from 1.8 percent in Q4.

Finance execs scale down tax targets for '09

By Samuel W. Domingo

THE DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE HAS pulled down the target tax revenue for 2009 to a total of P1,675 billion in Mid-Year Budgetary Review. It was P1,700 billion in the "larger target" of the global crisis in the domestic economy.

Finance Undersecretary Q2 S. Beland said the Bureau of Internal Revenue now aims to raise P700.6 billion for the entire year, down by P52 billion from the previous target of P752.6 billion.

At the same time, the Bureau of Customs collection target has been adjusted to P273.3 billion, P4 billion less from the previous P277.3 billion.

On Wednesday, the Development Budget Coordination Committee also agreed to cut back down in 2009 economic growth target to a range of 0.8 and 1.8 percent. DBOC members include the heads of the budget and finance departments, National Economic and Development Authority (NEDA) and Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP), Economic Planning Secretary, Ralph G. Diño and that, once with the revision of the targets, the DBOC assessed whether the growth of the gross domestic product (GDP) would remain positive this year.

Beland, who is also House Finance panelist, said that in making the growth target from 3.1 percent to 0.1 percent, the government's economic managers considered the growth numbers from the first quarter, particularly the consumption and investments.

However, consumption, which accounted for some 75 percent of GDP, grew by only 0.8 percent from January to March.

BSP, Beland said the domestic economy was now gaining more traction as reflected in some initial demand data.

"The Philippines remains a growth story because we made tough economic decisions only in '08," he said. "We have followed these up with appropriate policy to have continued or to have positive growths amid the global recession."

Now that the target revenue has been lowered, the DBOC has also raised the borrowing program by P22 billion, mainly by tapping official development assistance.

BSP: Consumers feel worse off

By Michele Y. Ibanez

THE GLOBAL ECONOMIC SUMMIT convening in Glasgow this week is dampening the sentiment of Filipino consumers.

In a survey conducted by the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas, consumer life seems off to the second quarter than in the previous quarter.

The second quarter results of the Consumer Expectations Survey (CES) of the central bank showed that the overall confidence index dropped further to 34.2 percent. In the first quarter, the index stood at 35.7 percent.

The confidence index is determined by asking the number of respondents who felt they were worse off than those who said they were better off.

Rosendo Quinsaga, of the BSP's department of economic statistics, said there were 5,909 households surveyed in the latest CES. The response rate for which stood at 96.1 percent.

The nationwide survey was conducted from April 1 to 13.

BSP Governor General Enrile Quinsaga said that despite the negative sentiment of Filipino households, they still expect to increase their level of spending in the coming months.

"The overall consumer outlook, which is still negative, may be driven by what consumers read in the papers or hear on the radio," Quinsaga said. "But if you look at their buying intentions, they still expect to increase or maintain their spending."

This is probably because of the reported increase in the number of Filipino households that have at least one member working overseas, he said.

The survey said more Filipino consumers expect to increase spending on basic goods and services in the third quarter, with the index falling 44.44 percent. The index stood at only 58.57 percent during the previous quarter.

EVERYONE, NOT ONLY THOSE INQUIRING about the global economic summit, is a little more pessimistic about the future of the Philippine economy, all in government-owned and private and public banks.

A week before June 13, the number of flags double and, in addition, a 10-story building is wrapped around the entire length of the facade of the building.

one in the image of a man in a military uniform's uniform, while in the left a building that is in the process of being built.

Built in the late 19th century, the structure is famous for its significant role in the history of the Philippines.

Nationalism

According to the company president, the work was completed in a matter of a few months. In the middle of the project, it was found that the structure was in the process of being built.

Apparently not content with the results, the company president decided to build a new structure. The new structure was built in the late 19th century.

Shoes can make or break
an outfit

Fab, affordable shoes

"TRENDY SHOES ARE NOT ONLY stylish and affordable, the colors are great and they're very comfortable too," reminded Chay Gonzales, who was in Robisons Department Store's Model Search for teenage girls.

Like most women, Gonzales believes that shoes can make or break an outfit. For example, a casual jeans and shirt outfit will not go best with sandals, but that is the flip side while semi-formal school events can be tackled up with slightly trendy slip-ons. Meanwhile, even pinkies believe that a combination of the fashion '90s and '80s can go perfectly with pumps, strappy heels and slippers.

Gonzales said she loved the green shoes she wore during the make-over. This can be worn with an apple green blazer, but she also wears an orange blazer. The green fashion-style cuffs and red lipstick look like she's from the 1960s.

She also wore a casual dress, orange-white, with a wide, ruffled collar and a large, ruffled skirt. The look is perfect for a school event.

white, with a wide, ruffled collar and a

EXERCISE FREEDOM 1000 Ways

CELEBRATE INDEPENDENCE DAY AT SM CITY NORTH EDSA

1000 Ways to be Free, Shop, and Dine
Independence Day is being declared in SM City North EDSA. And in turn, the mall is declaring itself a KKK Zone, which stands for Kultura, Kalayaan, or Kainan. This acronym marks some of the favorite aspects of Philippine life—literacy, culture, freedom, and eating.

June 12 is the day we celebrate our freedom from the colonial Spanish. And while the memory of foreign dominance over our people is fading, the traditions we have inherited are well on their way to forming the foundation of all Filipino culture. It is this spirit of unity that we remember and celebrate in the coming days.
